

Indigenous cadetship program.

We are committed to investing in the careers of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander law students. Our cadetship program for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students offers you the opportunity to build skills and gain valuable practical experience.

As a legal cadet at Colin Biggers & Paisley you will be a part-time employee for the duration of your law degree. Our cadets work one or two days per week in our Sydney office, with flexibility around your availability each semester.

You will work in multiple practice areas and gain practical on the job training and skills development. You will participate in training and professional development opportunities including attendances at courses and conferences.

We will mentor and support you to help you grow.

Practical on the Job Training

Skills and Knowledge Development

Professional Development Opportunities

Formal Mentoring Opportunities

Networking Opportunities

Conference Attendance

Andria Symington
Kaurareg Nation

3rd year LLB student
Macquarie University

“Working for Colin Biggers & Paisley has been an exceptional opportunity while completing my studies.

Find out more

Tamara Sims
Head of Pro Bono and Responsible Business

+ 61 2 8281 4516
tamara.sims@cbp.com.au

cbp.com.au

Apply at cbp.com.au/careers/current-opportunities